DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-5, 18, and 22, drawn to an isolated nucleic acid sequence comprising a cancer specific transcriptional regulatory element (TRE) derived from the sequence upstream of the translational start codon for a FEN1 gene, wherein said TRE is specific for cancer cells.

Group II, claim(s) 6-17, 19, 20, 21, and 23-31, drawn to a replication competent adenovirus vector comprising a cancer specific transcriptional regulatory element (TRE) derived from the sequence upstream of the translational start codon for a FEN1 gene, wherein said adenovirus vector selectively replicates in cancer cells. Election of this group requires further election of one species of genes from claims 9, 15, and 17, and one species of additional elements from claims 11-13 and 28, as explained below. Should applicant elect the embodiment that further comprises a transgene (claim 13), applicant is further required to elect one species of transgenes from claims 26 and 27; and one TRE from claims 14, 16, 31 and 32.

The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Hiraoka et al. (Genomics, 1995, 25(1), pages 220-25) teach a purified and cloned gene for FEN-1. Therefore, Hiraoka et al. teaches an isolated nucleic acid sequence comprising a TRE from the sequence upstream of the start codon for a FEN1 gene. Therefore, there is no special technical feature linking the inventions.

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Claims 9, 15, and 17 collectively recite the following species of genes: E1a, E1b, and E4.

Claims 11-13 and 28 collectively recite multiple species of additional elements to the adenovirus vector.

Claims 26 and 27 collectively recite a cytotoxic or cytokine transgene.

Claims 14, 16, 31, and 32 collectively recite TERT-TRE, E2F-TRE, and PRL-3 TRE.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: claim 6.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Each of the specific combinations of the species set forth above represent a structurally distinct embodiment of the instant invention, each requiring a separate and distinct search and corresponding examination. Applicant is required to elect one specific combination of elements for examination.

37 CFR 1.475(b) states:

"An international or a national stage application containing claims to different categories of invention will be considered to have unity of invention if the claims are drawn only to one of the following combinations of categories:

- (1) A product and a process specially adapted for the manufacture of said product; or
- (2) A product and process of use of said product; or
- (3) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and a use of the said product; or
- (4) A process and an apparatus or means specifically designed for carrying out the said process; or
- (5) A product, a process specially adapted for the manufacture of the said product, and an apparatus or means specifically designed for carrying out the said process.

37 CFR 1.475(c) states:

"If an application contains claims to more or less than one of the combination of categories of invention set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, unity of invention might not be present."

37 CFR 1.475(d) also states:

"If multiple products, processes of manufacture or uses are claimed, the first invention of the category first mentioned in the claims of the application and the first recited invention of each other categories related thereto will be considered as the main invention in the claims, see PCT Article 17(3)(a) and 1.476(c)."

37 CFR 1.475(e) further states:

"The determination whether a group of inventions is so linked as to form a single general inventive concept shall be made without regard to whether the inventions are claimed in separate claims or as alternative within a single claim."

The instant case does not fall into any one of the only 5 combinations of categories which can have unity of invention as defined by 37 CFR 1.475(b) and thus by definition does not have unity of invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
